

A BUG'S LIFE

By Wayne Visser

If I could speak butterfly
I think that I would giggle
And if I walked caterpillar
I'm sure that I would wiggle

If I could hear dragonfly
I think that I'd be fickle
And if I felt ladybird
I'm sure that it would tickle

If I could smell honeybee
I think that I would shimmer
And if I tasted moonlit-moth
I'm sure my world would glimmer
