

COMET LOVE SONNET

By Wayne Visser

Ever since meeting, we've taken to flight
Reached for the stars and touched the moon
We've stood together through changing light
From dusk to dawn, from midnight to noon
Time and again, we've crashed to the ground
Caught in a storm, too close to the sun
Our wings have broken, our feet been bound
Our entangled dreams have come undone
Certainty in life's like a blazing comet
Its passage as spectacular as rare
And incredible changes can come from it
If we have the heart to hope and dare
For at last I'm certain and I know it's true:
We were meant to be - and I love you
